

Designer focus: Emily King

Her graduate collection wowed fashion audiences at the Norwich University of the Arts gala show last year with her style inspired by patina and decay. Since graduating with a first class honours in fashion, Emily was snapped up by luxury boutique Balfour and Moffat on Wensum Street who stocks some of her designs.

Her work usually conveys a rustically refined quality, with an emphasis on the hand-made and the beautification of fabric aging through time. Whether or not her new collection for Norwich Fashion Week will follow this thread or take a completely different path remains to be seen.

→ You can see Emily's new collection and other Norwich designer collections at The Designers' Show at Epic Studios, Magdalen Street, on Tuesday, March 10. Tickets £10.

Behind the scenes: The Vintage Show, sponsored by Wex Photographic, promo shoot

Face of Marc Jacobs Amy Woodman stars in this year's Vintage Show promo shoot. Amy has worked with Norwich Fashion Week in the past, modelling for the Norwich Lanes Fashion Show a few years ago.

This year's Vintage Show has a Vintage East theme. Expect oriental designs and outfits from some of the best vintage boutiques and sellers, and designers and makers in Norwich and Norfolk, along with the usual mix of burlesque and vintage treats. So the shoot for the show's promotional campaign are inspired by Chinese and Japanese style.

Styled by the show's coordinator Kerry Curl and the Fabulous Miss K, Norwich fashion photographer Joe Black created a 'vintage goes East' feel to his photographs, which were shot in Mantra Club & Lounge on Prince of Wales Road.

→ You can see all the images from the shoot in the Norwich Fashion Week magazine, available from selected shops later this month and in the March issue of The Norwich Resident magazine.

■ Design by Beatrice Korlekie Newman, Photography by Benjamin Madgwick, Styling by Tom Eerebout, Set Design by Katherine Webb, Hair by Amber-Rose Peake, Makeup by Aj Juttile.

Fashion exhibition and talk:

Designers including Korlekie and Daniel Harris of the London Cloth Company will be coming to Norwich Fashion Week as part of the Norwich University of the Arts evening of talks, discussion and exhibition of work from designers and students.

Fashion Conversations: Creativity & Craftsmanship. Speakers, Beatrice Korlekie Newman, Daniel Harris and Nick Thompson, co-founder of Knit, an award winning creative agency based in Norwich, will talk about their work and share insights on their innovative practice.

→ The event will take place on Wednesday 11 March at

NUA's Duke Street Building with exhibition viewing from 5.30pm and talks from 6.30pm to 7.45pm. Tickets are £10 including a complimentary drink, www.nua.ac.uk/visit/creativity-craftsmanship
The Exhibition will also be open on Thursday March 12, 10 - 5pm and Friday March 13 10 - 2pm.

Street style:

Student photographers from City College Norwich have been out and about to capture the styles you are wearing. Have you been spotted this week?

Donnie Wiles wears outfit from charity shops. Photo: Hannah Bolt.

IT'S BACK
FASH FANS

NORWICH
FASHION WEEK 2015

NORWICHFASHION.CO.UK

YOUR CITY
YOUR STYLE

Competition: Design your own NCFC T-shirt

Calling all up and coming designers.

Norwich Fashion Week has teamed up with Norwich City Football Club to give you the chance to design a T-shirt that will be sold in all Canaries Official Stores. Your design need to be Norwich City FC inspired and no larger than A4 in size. There are two categories under 17s and over 17s, and the winning designs will be chosen by Norwich City Football Club. The winners designs will not only be available in NCFC shops and online, but will also be part of a photo shoot with the winning designers.

To enter Send your design as a jpg or tiff file no larger than 3MB in size, a short description of no more than one paragraph to explain your design concept and inspiration, with your name, date of birth and email address to: designateeshirt@canaries.co.uk or Design A T-Shirt Competition, Norwich City Football Club, Carrow Road, Norwich, NR1 1JE.

→ Deadline for submissions is March 31 2015. Only one design per entrant. For more details, a t.shirt template and full terms and conditions see shop.canaries.co.uk

The Norwich
resident

5-12 MARCH

Get your tickets for Norwich Fashion Week

Get your ticket to the Norwich Fashion Week catwalk shows now. Details online at www.norwichfashion.co.uk

→ Norwich Fashion Week 2015 takes place from March 5 until

March 12 and is sponsored by the Norwich Business Improvement District (Norwich BID). Follow all the fashion week updates in your Evening News, www.eveningnews24.co.uk and www.norwichfashion.co.uk